2. Characteristic spirit and general objectives of the school

Catherine McAuley NS is a Catholic co-educational special reading school that offers a two year placement for children with a severe presentation of Dyslexia, with a Catholic ethos under the patronage of the Archbishop of Dublin. There are ninety nine places in total.

"Catholic Ethos" in the context of a Catholic primary school means the ethos and characteristic spirit of the Roman Catholic Church. Catherine McAuley NS aims to promote and uphold the character and the spirit of the school as determined by the cultural, educational, moral, religious, social, linguistic and spiritual values and traditions which inform and are characteristic of the objectives and conduct of the school.

The school occupies premises provided by the Sisters of Mercy and is under their trusteeship. The adjacent convent was one of the first educational establishments in the country, founded by Catherine Mc Auley in 1842. We are proud to bear her name and continue the educational tradition, which she regarded as one of the first works of Mercy.

The Department of Education and Skills established the present school in 1980. The Department of Education and Skills fund the school. It caters for the children of average or above average ability with a severe presentation of Dyslexia/Specific Learning Difficulty (SLD) specific to reading.

We welcome children of all faiths and none.
